VOLTE FACE IN MARKETS

HAS THE FALL BEEN OVERDONE?

DUBLIN

On the Dublin Stock Exchange yesterday a pleasing feature was the demand for leading British industrials, which caused quite a good recovery in prices. This was due to the fact that many people believe that the recent falls have been very much overdone. Other groups, however, were dull for choice, although one or two local industrials marked small gains.

Home Government Funds continued to droop, and the Fourth National Loan lost 10/-. Conversion Loan eased to 96¾, and 3½ per cent. Financial Agreement Loan fell 12/6 to 96. 3½ per cent. War Loan closed fractionally higher at 84⅛, but Dublin 5 per cent. 1950-70 relapsed to 101. Banks remained weak, and Munster and Leinsters slumped 3/6 to 87/6 and National declined 10/- to 92/6. Guinness units were good buyers all day and they finished 1/- up at 42/6. Distillers, Ltd., announced a final Ordinary dividend of 8½ per cent. and a bonus of 1¼ per cent., making 12½ per cent. for the year, as compared with 20½ per cent. a year ago on the smaller capital now issued. Group profits are only £53,562 lower at £2,428,840. The market was quite pleased and the Ordinary shares were up to about 50/- at the close.

Great Southern Deb. relapsed two points to 42, but Ranks (Ireland) Ord. improved to 16/3. Associated Chocolate Deb. gave way to 9, and Brooks Thomas Ord. fell 1/- to 36/-. May Roberts (Drogheda) Ord. added a penny at 37/-, and Solus "A" Ord. recovered 1/- to 30/-. Pim Merchants Warehousing Ord. fell 1/6 to 41/-.

There was good support for Tobaccos, and B.A.T. Ord. advanced 2/6 to 58/-, and Imperials spurted 5/6 to 72/6. Imperial Chemical Ord. gained 1/11½ at 19/7½, while Lever Bros. Ord. were raised several pence to 15/4½.

LONDON

There was a marked improvement in sentiment on the London Stock Markets, and buyers found prices advanced on the smallest of buying orders. The changed conditions were, to a large extent, due to Mr. Eden's reassuring speech, but a growing feeling that the recent fall in equities has been much too severe was an important factor. Business was still on a small scale, but the tendency all round was distinctly firmer from the opening, and under the influence of steady streaks of equities prices were able to move favourably throughout the session. The recovery was most pronounced in recently weak Industrial and Financial issues, Chemicals and Motors. Backs and Tobacco issues, all of which showed good rises at the close. Some sharp improvements in the prices of Oil shares, and during the afternoon numerous Kaffirs joined in the upward movement.

Gilt-edged securities experienced a continuance of quiet conditions, and consequently the market lagged behind other groups. Some support was apparent for 3½ per cent. War Loan, Old Consols and Conversions 3½ per cents., but, though these issues displayed firmness, quotations generally were not greatly altered.

Foreign Bonds formed another subdued group, and once again the trend of values was mainly downward. The decline in Japanese 6 per cent. 1924 was halted, however, and eventually the stock was a point better at 37. Chinese Government issues, on the other hand, pursued a dull course and a small turnover in Brazilians resulted mainly from offerings of the 6¼ per cent. 1927 and the 4½ per cent. funding. European Bonds were featureless.

Operators in the British Rail Market maintained an attitude of caution, but the better feeling prevailing elsewhere brought in a little demand, and this in the absence of fresh liquidation gave prices a firmer appearance. Great Western Ord. put on ½ to 24, and L M S Ord. strengthened to 10½. Most of the Prior Charges were kept at their previous closing rates. Foreign Rails attracted little attention, and Argentine descriptions were seldom changed on balance.

INDUSTRIALS TAKE TURN FOR THE BETTER

A distinct turn for the better was noticeable among industrial equities yesterday. This was attributed to the oversold state of the market, caused by undue nervousness about coming air raids. Dealers were taking a more hopeful view of the war news, and, with a general feeling prevailing that the recent heavy decline had been largely overdone, a sharp rally occurred in prices, especially among the leading shares.

The chief movement was provided by Powell Duffryn, which rose from 21/3 to 14/4½ following the increase in the dividend. Wm. Cory rallied to 2½. Bolsover to 37/- and Yorkshire Amalgamated to 15/-. Iron and Steel shares generally reflected increased confidence sentiment. Colvilles improved 1/3 to 13/3, Dorman Long 1/3 to 15/-, United Steel 1/3 to 13/6, Whitehead ¼ to 2¼, Hadfield ¼ to 14/4½, Guest Keen 9d. to 15/-, John Brown 1/- to 15/6 and Vickers 8d. to 10/6.

Of the leading home equities, Woolworths advanced 4/- to 43/-, Marks and Spencer 3/- to 28/6, Courtaulds 1/2½ to 23/1½, Boots Drug 1/6 to 30/6, Imps ¼ to 3½, "Bats" ¼ to 3½, British Oxygen ¼ to 2½, Dunlops 1/6 to 22/-, Imperial Chemicals 1/9 to 21/-, Turner and Newall ½ to 2½, Tate and Lyle 1/6 to 37/6, United Molasses 1/- to 16/9, J. and P. Coats 1/3 to 23/9 and Rolls Royce ½ to 2½.

Electricals still seemed rather undecided, as did Aircrafts and some of the Motor issues. Cable and Wireless stocks lost further ground, the Ord. to 28½ and Pref. to 68. Breweries were bullish in places, Charringtons at 39/6, Distillers at 49/- and Mann at 10/-, with Guinness maintained at 47/-. Home Banking shares improved, but the Colonial issues were lower. Insurance shares received moderate support, but Shipping shares remained dull.

MINES AND OILS GOOD

RUBBERS ON OFFER

In common with the rest of the "House," the Mining markets yesterday had a generally steadier appearance. In Kaffirs, however, the view that many dividend-payers had been depressed to an unwarrantable extent was responsible for a certain investment demand, and in consequence numerous good gains occurred. Thus "Sallies," at 3½ were 31/6 higher, Randfontein put on ½, Modder East ½, and East Daggas ½. Crowns closed ¼ better, and Sub Nigel recovered ½, and many smaller gains were marked. There was a similar improvement in developing Mines, but Finance issues were not usually a great deal changed.

West African were mainly firmer, and Diamond Shares were fairly steady, with gains in Anglo-Transie and in Cons. Diamonds Ordinary, but "Casts" sagged to 6/-.

Narrow movements characterised the Base Metal departments.

Sentiment in the Oil Share market took a decided turn for the better yesterday, and, in response to modest buying orders, prices rallied quite sharply. The rise was helped by the cessation of recent selling. Burmahs were prominent, with a gain of ⅜ at 14⅜. Mexican Eagles, after being dormant for some time past, returned to favour and rose 7½d. to 3/4½. Demand was stimulated by hopes of a settlement of the dispute with the Mexican Government. There was also fair support in "Shells," which rallied ⅜ to 14⅛, while Anglo-Iranian ended ⅛ to the good at 1¼. Trinidad Shares were being picked up by "cheap" buyers. Developments were strong at 35/6 (1/6 higher), while rises of 1/- and 1/8 respectively were secured by Apex and Leaseholds. United British made a belated response to the dividend of 8½ per cent. announced several days ago, with an advance of 6d. to 5/6. Elsewhere Attocks were favourably influenced by the report, which shows a big jump in profits to £304,603. The shares closed ⅛ better at 1/4.

The improvement which took place in most other sections of the Stock Exchange was not reflected in the Rubber Share market yesterday. Conditions, indeed, were scarcely distinguishable from those of the preceding day. The market again had to contend with scattered offering, which, in the absence of support, depressed prices in some instances.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

without Calomel — and you'll jump out of bed in the morning full of vim and vigour

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk, and the world looks punk.

Laxatives help a little, but a mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good old Carters Brand Little Liver Pills to get those two pints of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carters Brand Little Liver Pills. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 1/3 and 3/-

COUNTY MEATH LANDS

SUPREME COURT ALLOWS APPEAL

(BEFORE THE CHIEF JUSTICE, MR. JUSTICE MURNAGHAN, MR. JUSTICE MEREDITH, MR. JUSTICE GEOGHEGAN AND MR. JUSTICE O'BYRNE.)

The Supreme Court, by a majority, allowed the appeal of Mrs. Mabel E. Strong, Moate House, Kells, from an order of the High Court, reversing an order of the Registrar of Titles, cancelling the registration of a judgment mortgage on lands in County Meath obtained by Messrs Connolly Brothers, Ltd., Shop street, Drogheda, against Matthew Tevlin, Rathbracks Kells.

Mrs. Strong was allowed her costs of the appeal and the costs of the High Court.

It appeared that Mr. Tevlin, the registered owner of the lands, had offered them for sale by public auction on October 14 last and Mrs. Strong had been declared the purchaser. On October 18, the purchase money having been paid, Mr Tevlin executed a transfer of the lands to Mrs. Strong in fee-simple. Later the same day, before Mrs. Strong had been registered as owner, pursuant to the transfer, Messrs. Connolly Brothers had entered on the folio of the lands a judgment mortgage obtained against Mr. Tevlin. Mrs. Strong subsequently, on the same day, was registered as owner of the lands, and she applied to the Registrar of Titles for an order cancelling the judgment The Registrar acceded to her application and directed the cancellation of the judgment mortgage, and against that direction an appeal was taken to the High Court.

JUDGMENT MORTGAGE

The High Court held that the Registrar of Titles was wrong in directing the cancellation of the judgment mortgage; that his ruling must be reversed, and that the judgment mortgage must be restored to its position on the folio. Against this judgment Mrs. Strong appealed to the Supreme Court.

The Chief Justice, Mr Justice Geoghegan and Mr. Justice O'Byrne were of the opinion that the judgment of the High Court was wrong and that the ruling of the Registrar of Titles should be restored.

Mr. Justice Murnaghan and Mr. Justice Meredith were of opinion that the view of the High Court was correct and that the appeal should be dismissed.

The Court allowed the appeal, discharged the order of the High Court, and restored the order of the Registrar of Titles.

Mr. R. McGonigal, K.C., and Mr. Hewitt Poole (instructed by Mr. W. O. Armstrong) appeared for Mrs. Strong; and Mr. P. J. Roe, K.C., and Mr. A. C. Newett (instructed by Messrs. Brannigan and Matthews) for Messrs Connolly Brothers.

Mr. Edward H. Burne, solicitor (Messrs. Gerald Byrne and Co.) watched the proceedings on behalf of an interested party.

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT

SERIES OF CHARGES

ALLEGED ATTEMPT TO SUBORN WITNESSES

MINIMUM WAGES ISSUE SEQUEL

(BEFORE MR. CONROY.)

SAMUEL HARRIS, 133 Capel street, a director of the firm, Messrs. Harris, Ltd., was charged with 34 offences arising out of a previous case in November last, when £105 in fines was imposed upon the firm for failing to pay several workers in their clothing factory the minimum rates of wages.

The charges included allegations of attempts to suborn witnesses in the November prosecution, attempting to prevent the course of justice, and forgery with intent to defraud.

Harris is alleged to have unlawfully attempted to suborn Annie Hayes, an employé of the firm, to commit perjury, by endeavouring to procure her to swear falsely at the hearing of a summons in which William Henry Lang, an officer appointed under the Trade Boards Act of 1909, was the complainant, to be heard on October 24th, 1939, at the District Court, that she had been paid £3 10s. 2d. by the defendants round about July, prior to October 24th, whereas the sum was not paid to her until October 24th. He was similarly charged with the fabrication of false evidence to mislead a judicial tribunal in respect of other employés of the firm.

He was also charged with attempting to suborn James Kearns, an employé of his firm, to swear falsely at the hearing of the November case that he was only a messenger boy in the employment of Harris, Ltd., whereas he was employed as an assistant presser.

There were additional charges against Harris, that on October 24th last, during the hearing of the case, he uttered to Mr. D. Ua Donnchadha, six receipts from employés for certain amounts, knowing these documents to have been forged, with intent to defraud.

Mr. Walter H. Moloney (instructed by Mr. D. Ua Donnchadha, Chief State Solicitor's Office) prosecuted; and Mr. Herman Good defended.

RESULT OF A VISIT

Mr. Moloney said that, as a result of a visit to Harris's premises on May 25th last, Inspector Lang, of the Department of Industry and Commerce, found that certain employés were being underpaid. Summonses were issued under the Trade Board regulations against the firm, and were to come up for hearing on September 22. At some time prior to that date the defendant spoke to the various members of the staff who had been summoned as witnesses, and, having got their summonses from them, told them they need not attend until they were informed. The case came on eventually on October 24. On the morning of that day Harris called the employés individually to his desk and informed them that arrears of pay were due to them. Defendant said to one man—Frederick Hamilton—that he could not say what amount in arrears of wages was due to him, but said that if he trusted him he would give him the money on the following day. He produced a card to Hamilton and asked him to sign it. It purported to be a receipt for back pay, and, though it was signed October 24, it bore the date on the top of 24/8/39. Hamilton was not sure whether that date was on it when he signed it. The amount of £21 0s. 7d. now appearing on it was not there at the time. the blank having been left to fill in the amount.

"Harris then said," Mr. Molony continued, "to Hamilton and the other members of the staff who were to be witnesses for the prosecution that if they were asked in Court when they received these amounts they were to say a few months ago."

"A BIT SHORT OF CASH"

Frederick Hamilton, Bride street, said that on October 24th last at about 1 p.m. Harris told him to be in Court in connection with the summonses issued against the firm. Earlier that day he had called witness into the office and told him that some back wages were due to him, but that he (Harris) was a bit short of cash at the moment and asked witness if he would trust him and sign a receipt.

Defendant handed him a document, but witness could not say whether it was either stamped or dated. Witness signed the document. The amount was not filled in because there was a dispute over it. Continuing, Hamilton said: "He told me that if anybody asked me when I got it I was to say that I got it a few weeks ago."

When they were going to lunch on October 24th, Harris came out of his office and told everyone who had got summonses to stay behind. A number did so. "Harris told us that if anybody asked us when we got the money, to say that we got it a few weeks ago," continued the witness. Hamilton then went into the office of the defendant, who called in two other workers, John Casey and Joseph Birmingham. Harris told the two others that he had only £12, and if they liked he would pay one of them that, and they could divide it between them, and he would pay the remainder the next day.

They accepted £6 each in notes, and signed a receipt on postcards. Defendant told them that if they were asked, to say that they got the money a few weeks ago. While witness was waiting in court with others for the case to be heard, he heard the witnesses giving evidence, and went outside and spoke to the others. He called the defendant outside and told him that if they were on oath they would tell the truth.

Defendant said that there was to be no perjury. In the witness-box, witness was asked if he had been paid the amount on the receipt, and he had replied "No." At that time he had not been paid the £21. It was paid on the following day by defendant.

The further hearing was adjourned until next Thursday.

STRUCK BY WHEEL OF MOTOR CAR

DAMAGES FOR ROSCOMMON WOMAN

(BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HANNA AND A JURY.)

The jury assessed damages at £500 in favour of Mrs. Catherine Flanagan, Willsbrook, Castlerea, Co. Roscommon, in her action against John Crean, contractor, Slievemurry, Ballygar, Co. Galway, for damages for injuries suffered by her on October 21, 1939, when she was struck by a wheel which became detached from a motor car owned by the defendant, while she was cycling near Castlerea.

Damages of £56 14s. were assessed in favour of Mrs. Flanagan's husband, Martin Flanagan, farmer, who claimed for loss arising out of the accident.

Mr. Justice Hanna gave judgment accordingly for £556 14s., with costs.

KEEP COOL

In warm weather children (and some grown ups) are inclined to be peevish and irritable. The sensible thing and the natural thing to do is to give them a dose of Eno's. Eno's Fruit Salt first thing every morning will keep little stomachs right during trying hot weather, and it's quite safe because your doctor takes it and recommends it.—(Advt.)

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT

SHOOTING OF SERGEANT

Private Charged with Murder

A SECOND SOLDIER ALSO WOUNDED

(BEFORE THE PRESIDENT OF THE HIGH COURT AND A JURY.)

THE hearing was resumed yesterday of the case in which James Fennell, a private in the National Army, was charged with the murder of Sergeant Stephen Ryan at Collins Barracks, Cork, on February 11 last.

Mr. J. A. McCarthy, K.C., with Mr. P. J. McEnery, K.C., and Mr. G. D. Murnaghan (instructed by the Chief State Solicitor), prosecuted. Mr. O. Moriarty, K.C., and Mr. P. Sullivan (instructed by Mr. E. A. O'Connell, Cork) defended.

Sergeant Patrick Fitzgibbon stated that on the night of February 10th he was going to his room in Collins Barracks, Cork, a little before midnight. He occupied a room with Sergeant Ryan. Privates Chase and Fennell were at either side of the passage leading into his room at the top of the landing. They were in uniform, and had revolvers in their holsters. Sergeant Ryan was in the room, lying on his bed partly undressed.

WHISPERING

Witness left the room door ajar, and heard Fennell say to Chase: "I wonder does he know that he is going to die?" Before that he had heard Sergeant Ryan's name being mentioned, but could not catch the whole conversation. It was Private Chase who mentioned Sergeant Ryan's name. There was a lot of whispering outside the door, and Chase was being accused by Fennell of being "windy," and being "yellow."

After a time the two men separated, and witness heard someone approach his room door. He got his rifle, and tried to put a clip of five rounds of ammunition into the magazine, but only succeeded in getting in four rounds. The other round fell on the floor. Witness then cocked the action of the rifle and stood at the "on guard," facing the man coming to the door. It was Private Chase. Witness took Chase's revolver, broke it, and took out the ammunition. He also took the ammunition out of Chase's pouch and put it on the table. He gave Chase a receipt for it. Witness put the revolver on the window under an old blanket, and Chase went to his room.

About twenty minutes later witness and Sergeant Ryan went downstairs to the No. 3 Platoon billet. He was looking for the bed in which Fennell slept. It was empty, and he came out again. He heard Sergeant Ryan's voice from the stores underneath. He saw Private Chase coming up. Sergeant Ryan came to the door, and they called Corporal Keane. He searched Fennell's bed for a revolver, and found nothing. Then he saw Fennell at the door with a revolver in his left hand. Fennell told him to get away from the bed, to hand back Chase's revolver and put his hands up.

SERGEANT SHOT

"I told him I would not," said Sergeant Fitzgibbon, and he said he was going to shoot me.

"I said: 'Fennell, if you shoot me you are a coward.' I had no firearms with me at the time, and showed Fennell my hands. Fennell then mentioned that he had nothing against me. Fennell again asked me for the revolver, and started as if to go right up the centre of the room. I took a side pace towards him with my right foot, and Fennell fired a shot at me. When I took the side pace I looked over my shoulder and called Corporal Keane. Fennell was very near me when he fired—not more than a yard away—and hit me in the region of the left breast. I spun round on my leg and fell on my knees. I got up, and I think I fell a second time."

Witness said that as he fell a second time he heard Sergeant Ryan's voice, and heard Fennell say—"You, Ryan," or "Now, Ryan."

"I remember asking the fellow in the next bed to get a priest for me. I heard a number of shots in the room."

Witness concluded his evidence by saying that Sergeant Ryan was not armed. Witness had known Fennell about three months. He was a good, clean soldier.

To Mr. Moriarty, witness said that, if so inclined, Fennell could have shot him when he was going up the stairs that night.

In further cross-examination, the witness said that Chase called him to the door of the room and asked him either to take the revolver from Sergeant Ryan or not to give it to Sergeant Ryan. When Chase had left, witness took the revolver from Sergeant Ryan and placed it under a blanket on the window, and put a round of ammunition in his pocket. He did not see Sergeant Ryan take Chase's revolver from the window, nor did he see him with it afterwards.

HEARD A SHOT

Corporal Patrick Keane, who was in charge of No. 3 Platoon Room, said that he heard a shot coming from the direction of the door, and saw Fennell at the door with a revolver in his hand, and Sergeant Fitzgibbon in a kneeling position. Fennell followed Sergeant Ryan until he was within eight or nine feet of him, and then fired a shot. He thought Sergeant Ryan said—"Will not somebody stop him?"

Fennell fired two or three shots at a distance of about six feet, and while practically leaning on the end of witness's bed. Fennell told Sergeant Ryan to hand out the gun, and Sergeant Ryan said he had no gun. Witness saw no gun in Sergeant Ryan's hand, but Sergeant Ryan put his left hand behind his back and produced a revolver. Fennell took the revolver. He saw Sergeant Ryan lying on the floor.

Fennell turned to witness with a revolver in either hand and said: "I have nothing against you, corporal." As he went to the door Fennell said: "I have only one man more to get."

When Fennell picked up one of the revolvers he said, looking in the direction of Sergeant Ryan: "You had four in it for me, Stephen."

ASKED FOR A PRIEST

Sergeant Ryan asked for a priest, and Fennell also asked witness to get a priest.

Fennell warned all in the room not to move, and added that if any N.C.O. or man came into the room he would shoot them. He then sat on his own bed and started dressing himself, saying that he was getting ready for the guardroom. Company Sergeant Hayes came in, and, exchanging some words with Fennell, picked up the two revolvers.

Private John Mangan said that as Sergeant Fitzgibbon came into the room Fennell said: "Put them up." Sergeant Fitzgibbon said: "I will not," and Fennell fired a shot. Sergeant Fitzgibbon fell on Fennell's bed. Fennell fired another shot, and Sergeant Ryan fell. Fennell also fired two or three other shots, which emptied the revolver.

Private Daniel Doyle said that when he woke up he heard Sergeant Ryan say: "I never did anything to you, Fennell; I never put you under close arrest." Fennell had two revolvers.

Passing his own bed Fennell, who was laughing, said: "I am a real Mix at this game."

Company-Sergeant Hayes asked: "What was up?" and Fennell replied: "I shot Sergeant Ryan in self-defence."

Private Christopher O'Reilly said he was awakened by the sound of a shot. Fennell was coming down the room with a revolver in each hand, twisting them round on his forefingers. Fennell said that he was "a real Tom Mix at this game." When Captain Doherty came into the room Fennell backed up the room and told the Captain to stand back. Fennell was then taken into custody.

"WILD-LOOKING"

Private John Molony said that when he saw Fennell he had two revolvers and was "wild-looking." He heard Fennell say: "I got you, Steve."

Private O'Sullivan said that he tripped over a kitbox and as he lay on the ground Fennell fired at Sergeant Ryan. He heard Fennell say: "It is like Spain here to-night."

Several other soldiers who were in bed in No. 3 Platoon room also gave evidence as to the shooting. One witness said when assistance came to Sergeant Ryan, Fennell said: "You had better look after Sergeant Fitzgibbon; he is shot, too."

Detective-Sergeant Michael Riordan said that when he charged Fennell on February 13th with the murder of Sergeant Ryan the accused man said: "I have nothing to say, but when I saw him with a revolver in his hand, and I with another, I had only one alternative, to fire." Fennell, writing with his left hand, signed this statement.

The Court adjourned until to-day.

CRINKEN CHURCH, BRAY

CENTENARY CELEBRATION

To mark its opening on the 28th June, 1840, an interesting Service will be held to-night at 8 o'clock in St. James's Church, Crinken, Bray. The first Rector was the Rev. J. Winthrop Hackett, and his grandson, the Right Rev. J. Winthrop Crozier, Bishop of Tuam, is to preach the sermon. Crinken has a record of being what is called a missionary church. Indeed, at one period, in the 1920's, no fewer than seven "Crinkenites" were working abroad either under the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel or the Church Missionary Society.

The celebration will be continued to-morrow, when there will be a fête at Woodbrook, particulars of which will be found in our advertisement columns to-morrow. Lieut.-Colonel Lord Farnham D.S.O., will open the fête. He is a kinsman of the Rev. Canon B. Daly (then Rector of Powerscourt, and appointed in 1843 Bishop of Cashel) who preached the first sermon in Crinken Church. On Sunday next the Archbishop of Dublin will be the preacher at the 11.30 Service and the Dean of Christ Church, Dublin, will preach at the 6.15 Service.

Of Interest To Women

WHAT WOMEN OVERLOOK

NEED FOR KEEPING THEIR YOUTHFUL RADIANCE

IF a great magician should suddenly appear and grant us one wish in payment for our good deeds of the day, in a generous moment we think that we would ask that every woman in the world should have a lovely skin. And to ourself, we would say over and over again, that we hope that she would also be endowed with the knowledge of caring for it properly.

We find that women are inclined to overlook the fact that the condition and texture of the skin itself are the foundations necessary to acquire that peaches-and-cream effect so much desired; that luminous quality, that youthful radiance, or whatever they want to call the thing they strive for. They seem to think that no matter what condition their skin is in they can, with no preliminary care, apply a coat of make-up and come forth a dazzling beauty. They wouldn't expect a coat of paint on a rough splintered board to cover up all imperfections without first preparing a smooth, workable surface, and yet they do expect a new coat of powder and make-up to hide all the flaws.

THREE SIMPLE RULES

Skin problems are many and varied, but most of them can be corrected and controlled by the religious adherence to a few fundamental rules that are simple, and add up to three. Briefly, they are cleansing, lubricating and toning. We sometimes wonder if it is a perverse streak in women that prevents them from following them. But, simple as they are, women still are puzzled about why and in what order they should be used. The answer is simply this: The cleansing will keep the skin clean, the lubricating will keep it soft, and the toning will help keep it firm.

First—Use your favourite cleansing method to remove all dirt, grime and stale make-up. Do this at least twice a day, and oftener if you have the opportunity. Do it very thoroughly at night.

Second—Keep your skin soft, and help ward off the unwanted lines by using the creams or oils that please you most. Do this after your nightly cleansing.

Third—Tone your skin by improving the circulation. A complexion brush used in the cleansing process is one way, and the cold water rinses after cleansing should not be overlooked. The use of a skin freshener of the proper strength is another.

IMPORTANCE OF DIET

With the help of the ever-necessary proper diet, sufficient rest, fresh air and exercise, the average skin will respond beautifully to this kind of treatment, and it is the answer to the women who daily ask what to do for blackheads, enlarged pores, oily, dry or sluggish-looking skins.

You practise it when you make a standing date with your dentist several times a year. And above all, you practise it at least twice, and maybe three times a day, when you clean your teeth as they should be cleaned. As a beauty asset, healthy teeth (which nearly always are beautiful teeth) canot be over-estimated. When you preserve your teeth you also are preserving facial contour—a very important beauty factor, and one to be noted, with care.

NEW MANAGER OF GRESHAM HOTEL

Mr. T. O'Sullivan, who is to take up duty as manager of the Gresham Hotel, Dublin, on 1st July, has held many important appointments, including the managerships of the Rock Hotel, Gibraltar, and the Hand and Rock Park Hotels in Wales. His training was obtained in England and on the Continent. Mrs. O'Sullivan, who is to assist her husband, is at present manageress of the Four Courts Hotel, Dublin. Many interesting experiences befell Mr. O'Sullivan during his years at Gibraltar. He was there at the time of the Spanish civil war, when refugees were pouring daily into the British colony. The Rock Hotel occupies a magnificent position, high over the Mediterranean, and its patrons included Spanish and British Royalty. Mr. O'Sullivan also spent some time in Spain studying hotel conditions in that country.

Two Norwegian seamen, Jakobsen Markus and Kjus Karl, were fined £5, each at Belfast Custody Court yesterday for overstaying their shore leave by two and a half hours. They stated they had lost their way.

25 YEARS AGO

(From the Irish Times, June 28th, 1915.)

The German View.

During a debate in the Prussian Diet Dr. Delbrueck said that only one thought could prevail in the war—namely, to end it so that they should not again need to make war. The President of the Diet said that the Russian Colossus might be regarded as almost broken, and it would be incapable for the time being of a strong offensive. Now that they had broken Russia they could turn their full attention to their other enemies, and they would surely vanquish them as they were now vanquishing the might of Russia. Germany did not desire naval war with England in its present form, but since England had forced it upon them they must go through with it inexorably until England altered her method of war.

The Blockade.

The Admiralty's weekly summary issued last night of British merchant and fishing vessels lost by hostile action shows that in the week ended June 23, 1,469 oversea steamers of all nationalities arrived at or sailed from the United Kingdom ports.

Three British merchant vessels, to the total gross tonnage of 5,261, were sunk or captured by submarines, and two British fishing vessels totalling 240 tons were sunk. One other merchant vessel was torpedoed, but reached port.

The Bear's Paw

When the present war started there was a general belief that, while the main German and French armies would take shelter behind the Siegfried and Maginot lines in the West, a war of movement probably would be fought in the Balkan Peninsula. The British and French Governments had given guarantees to Rumania and Greece; Turkey was virtually a member of the Entente, and at one time it looked as if King Carol of Rumania would join the Allies in an effort to hold what Rumania had gained after the last war. In the event nothing happened. Germany's swift success against Poland came as a heavy blow to the democracies' friends in Rumania. The presence in Syria of a Franco-British force of more than one million men under the French General Mittelhauser prevented the Rumanians from any overt desertion of the Allied cause; but it became clear to everybody that not only Rumania, but all the Balkan States, were prepared at any moment to shout with the biggest crowd, or, as the Germans say, mit den Wölfen zu heulen; and, when French resistance collapsed less than a fortnight ago Great Britain's last hope of Balkan support disappeared. Germany for the time being had her hands full with the military occupation of the countries which she had conquered in the West, and with preparations for her forthcoming attack on Great Britain. Italy was equally preoccupied in the Mediterranean; and the peoples of the Balkans had every reason to hope that they would be left alone, at any rate until a decision should have been reached in the West. Once again, however, Soviet Russia decided to take a hand in the game. It will be remembered that the Russians, having made a pact with their arch-enemies, the German National-Socialists, intervened at the psychological moment during the Polish campaign to grab those provinces of the reconstructed Polish Republic which, they claimed, were inhabited mainly by Ukrainians, or White Russians. The Germans acquiesced in this piece of international brigandage, because they had no reasonable alternative, being more than anxious to avoid a war on two fronts; but we may be sure that the Wilhelmstrasse had its own views on the matter, and that the possibilities of an eventual settlement of accounts with Russia was not overlooked in Berlin. Then the Russians took further steps to consolidate their position. They made themselves masters of Lithuania, Estonia, and Latvia, which formerly had been under Romanoff rule, thereby causing additional embarrassment in Berlin; but the Germans were far too busy in the West to take any active steps in the East; and the Soviets helped themselves to what they wanted along the Baltic coast. Now they have made yet another move in their game of power-politics. Knowing that the British no longer are in a position to carry out their pledge to Rumania, since their French allies have laid down their arms, Comrade Stalin and his colleagues have sent an ultimatum to King Carol demanding the immediate restoration to Russia of Bessarabia and the northern portion of the Bukovina. They also have called for Russian control of the Rumanian ports of Costanza, Galatz, and Braila. In short, Russia not only insists on the recovery of the territory which was ceded to Rumania in 1918; she also seeks naval control of the mouth of the Danube.

King Carol has requested Moscow to appoint delegates to discuss the Russian demands; but there is not the least doubt that he will submit to Stalin's ultimatum. Any attempt to resist by force of arms would be sheer madness. Besides, however unfair may be the advantage which the Russians have taken of Rumania's helplessness, the province of Bessarabia is inhabited almost entirely by Ukrainians; and on a strictly ethnological basis Russia has at least as much claim to it as Rumania. From the wider point of view of European politics, however, Russia's seizure of Bessarabia and the Bukovina is not nearly so important or interesting as the future of those Rumanian provinces which formerly belonged to Hungary. Germany certainly will not welcome the descent of the Russian Sennacherib like a wolf on the Rumanian fold; but she has good reason to encourage Hungary to seek the recovery of Transylvania, particularly now that the Russians have decided to return to the Balkans. Herr Hitler has sent a letter to the Hungarian Premier, Count Teleki, assuring him that Hungary's claims will be satisfied; and we should not be surprised to learn in the next few days that further demands had been made on King Carol from Budapest. Rumania at the moment is in the unhappy position of Czecho-Slovakia immediately after the Munich agreement. All the States that have territorial grievances against her—including Bulgaria—probably will follow the Russian example, relying upon Great Britain's temporary inability to send troops to King Carol's help. There is yet another aspect of the situation in the Balkans which may give rise to serious trouble in the near future. If Hungary, with Germany's blessing, can recover Transylvania from the Rumanians, she almost certainly will try to strip Yugoslavia of the substantial territories which were ceded to the Triune Kingdom in 1918. After the last war the Southern Slavs gained possession of Carniola, Crostia, Slavonia, Bosnia, Herzegovina, and Dalmatia—all at the expense of the old Dual Monarchy, and mainly at that of Hungary. The Hungarians never have abandoned hope of the recovery of these areas; and she may try to grab them now while the grabbing is good. This possibility brings Italy into the picture; for she, too, has territorial ambitions in the Balkans. Signor Mussolini wants Dalmatia in order to make the Adriatic an entirely Italian lake; it was for that reason that he seized Albania on Good Friday, 1939. He is on excellent terms with the Magyars and it is quite likely that he and Count Teleki may have agreed among themselves on the partition of Yugoslavia after the model of Poland's partition between Germany and Russia. There is one obstacle in the way of such an agreement—the Yugoslavs will fight. There are no better soldiers in Europe. Admittedly, they have not a mechanised army fit to stand up against modern Panzerdivisionen; but, apart from a strip of land in the North, the terrain of Yugoslavia is mountainous, and lends itself admirably to defence. Once the first shot is fired in the Balkans anything may happen. Germany and Italy may be able to reward their Magyar friends, while, incidentally, helping themselves to Balkan territory; but the thrust of Soviet Russia across the Carpathians must be causing searchings of heart in Rome as well as in Berlin.

Japan Prepares?

The Japanese evidently propose to fulfil their threat to Great Britain and France; and a glance at the map will reveal their purpose—or their alleged purpose—more clearly than any words. Japan controls virtually all the great ports of East and South-East China. General Chiang Kai-shek is offering a splendid resistance in the great hinterland; his troops, by all reports, are far better and more numerous than they were even a year ago, but his great danger is lack of arms and equipment. Since the Japanese occupied the ports his sources of supply have been reduced to two or three. Russia was a fertile source before the European war—as, indeed, were Germany and Italy, to the unbounded disgust of their partner in the anti-Komintern pact—but the probability is that Russia has found different uses for her surplus material since then. There remain two approaches to China—via Hong Kong and via French Indo-China. The Japanese have protested both to Great Britain and to France against the use of these colonial possessions for the transmission of arms to Chiang Kai-shek; but they claim that, in spite of their protests, the traffic has not been suspended, and propose to take their own measures to stop it. Yesterday their troops occupied the eastern extremity of the Hong Kong peninsula, and the colony, to all intents and purposes, is in a state of a siege. Meanwhile, another detachment is said to have established itself at Lungchow, in the province of Kwangsi, a few miles from the boundary of French Indo-China. Its declared intention is to cut communications between Indo-China and the Chinese hinterland, but very few people are of so trustful a nature as to believe that the Japanese will content themselves with so little. Indo-China ought to be an easy prey. Many of its finest troops are with the Allied Army in Syria, while the colony itself is bound to have suffered heavy damage, in respect of its moral, from the collapse of French resistance to Germany. General Catroux, the Governor-General, refused to lower his flag at the behest of the Pétain Government, which has replaced him by Vice-Admiral Decoux, and has recalled him to France; but it is by no means certain that the order will be obeyed. In any event, the province is hardly in a position to offer a serious challenge to the formidable Japanese armies when, and if, they think that their growing empire is in need of further enlargement. Japan would not be Japan if she overlooked the opportunities of aggrandisement with which the European war presents her. Germany and Italy cannot object to see their enemy embarrassed in a remote corner of the world, and already they have given the Japanese Government several earnests of their goodwill, including a pledge that they will not require to demand the islands mandated to Japan in the West Pacific, if the war ends in a totalitarian victory. The Russians are unlikely to be so complacent about the growth of Japan, while the United States infallibly will watch it with jealous eyes. There are unconfirmed rumours this morning that the Japanese are conducting some sort of "manœuvres" off the west coast of South America, and that a portion of the United States' Hawaiian Fleet is sailing in the same direction. If Japan is unwilling that the pre-war status quo in the Pacific shall be disturbed, the United States are not less desirous of any change.

The Eccentrics

Nobody can blame the ordinary working man if, when he finds that the cost of living is soaring, he tries to get a commensurate increase in his wages. The trouble is that, when the increase is granted, the employer must pass on the cost of it, and eventually that hapless individual known as the consumer—who is either the working man or his next-door neighbour—is faced with yet another increase in the cost of living. We had bitter experience of this vicious circle during the last war, and, despite all efforts to find a remedy, it is flourishing with renewed vigour to-day. The last thing that seems to occur to the average working man, whether black-coated or horny-handed, is to practise a modicum of self-denial. Some little while ago we suggested in these columns that the time had come for a tightening of belts—not merely the belts of one class, but the belts of all classes—but, instead of this happening, the tendency remains to take the belt off and use the buckle-end to intimidate the other fellow. A trifle of pruning among the luxuries would help to provide for the necessities, but perish the thought! Why should anyone stint himself of cigarette, or cinema, or "liquid refreshment," when the extra few shillings necessary can be had for the asking? In view of the prevalence of this attitude in Ireland, the conduct of the companies playing at the Old Vic. and Sadler's Wells theatres, London, may be regarded in this country as eccentric. War-time conditions over there have hit the theatres heavily, and, in order to keep open the two places mentioned, all the employés earning more than £3 10s. a week offered to submit to a reduction in their pay. The offer has been accepted, and the theatres are open still. Mr. Tyrone Guthrie, the Irishman who acts as managing director of both companies, in commenting upon the action of the players, said that they had put the interests of the Old Vic. and Sadler's Wells before their own welfare. That may be so, but we think that the members of the two companies have displayed remarkable common-sense. If the two theatres were compelled to close the players would have found it virtually impossible to obtain other employment in the conditions prevailing, and they decided, very wisely, that smaller wages were better than no wages at all. Nevertheless, there is no doubt that their action will seem very foolish, if not criminal, in the eyes of all those who regard employers as geese with golden eggs, and we fear that it will be a long time before it occurs to any group of workers in Eire to follow the example of the London theatrical companies in the interests of self-preservation.

FROM "THE TIMES"

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

THE DEFENCE OF BRITAIN

The Times observes to-day, in a leading article:—Day after day brings ocular evidence of the military resources which the turn of the war in France has concentrated in this island. New classes have been, and are being, called up; veterans of the British Expeditionary Force are re-forming throughout the country. Splendid types of citizen soldiers from overseas are to be seen in the streets, in their distinctive uniforms, and testify by their appearance and bearing to the quality of the reinforcement which has reached the home base so opportunely from the Dominions. . . . . All the elements of great and sustained military effort of defence and offence are present, or in process of swift accumulation. What is still lacking, and is all-important, is the pattern into which they are to fit. Until the whole shape and design of national defence is simply and effectively established, these exertions cannot be fully harnessed to their first task, which is to make the invasion of this country wholly and permanently impossible. . . .

No piecemeal plan will serve, and no division of authority, no administrative rivalries, no considerations of vested interest or prestige, personal or departmental, should be tolerated. There must be a concentration of sufficient power in a single command. We have to weld the armed forces of the Crown within the island into a steel frame, maintaining and consolidating an industrial community which is, and must be, kept at work on a potential battlefield. There can be no clean-cut line between responsibilities of a military and civilian order. There must be dove-tailed together. If not, there will be either a plain lack of means to discharge the duty, or fatal friction and delay. The generalissimo to whom all these considerations point should be endowed with powers to match his responsibilities. If he is to bring the land defences, both on the coast and in depth, up to the necessary level of completeness and efficiency, with the rapidity required, he must have a wide call upon the civil authorities and civilian man power.

LONDON LETTER

A POPULAR FRENCH AMBASSADOR

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
THURSDAY NIGHT.

THE resignation of M. Corbin, the late French Ambassador in London, breaks a chain in Anglo-French relations which hitherto has been particularly strong. M. Corbin has been something more than Ambassador. He has worked hard to strengthen British ties with France in art, literature and language. He has presided over the French Embassy in London for seven years, and has done a great amount of work, playing a particularly important part on the Non-Intervention Committee during the Spanish Civil War In addition, he has made notable efforts to bring France and Britain together in every possible sphere. His departure from the Embassy will be regretted by a great number of his British friends.

Brigadier Claude Nicholson

General Sir Hubert Gough reveals today that the hero in charge of the defence of Calais was Brigadier Claude Nicholson, and that his wife has received a letter from him to say that he is a prisoner, but is well. Sir Hubert Gough emphasised that Brigadier Nicholson was one of the most brilliant officers in the British Empire. He joined the 16th Lancers, went through the Staff College as a student, and afterwards commanded his regiment for two years in India, and was brought home to command the Imperial Defence College. War broke out, however, and he was given command of his brigade about two months ago. Sir Hubert Gough says that Brigadier Nicholson has brains, foresight and no prejudices; but he is receptive of new ideas, and has any amount of drive.

Railway Safety Measures

Several of the big railway termini in London are making provision for passengers by the erection of shelters in the event of raids. At Euston brick surface shelters are being built in Euston square and Euston street, which will hold a considerable number of people. At St. Pancras handy basements are being strengthened, while at King's Cross underground booking halls are being adapted. Somewhat similar arrangements are being made at other places in order that passengers arriving during a raid warning may go at once to a safe place. In more than one instance use is being made of disused railway stations underground.

Interning Aliens

Britain is taking action to intern many aliens of the C Class as a measure of precaution, though it is unlikely that all the fifty thousand Germans and Austrians in that class will be arrested. Many refugees from the Nazi regime are regarded as friendly, but the authorities have decided that action must be taken in the interests of national safety in a number of districts. It is intended to remove many of the aliens now interned in Britain, together with prisoners of war to Canada. The authorities intend to complete the transportation in as short a time as possible.

Sir Oswald Mosley

Sir Oswald Mosley, who was detained by the British Home Secretary under the defence regulations on May 23, is said to have applied to appear before the Special Advisory Committee set up to consider cases such as his. Under the regulations he is entitled to state his objections to the Order. His case will be heard by Mr. Norman Birkett, Sir A. Hazlerigg, Professor Collinson, Dr. Mallon, Miss Violet Markham, and Sir George Clerk.

IRISHMAN'S DIARY

Tough!

My half-section, writes a colleague, is now a member of the Local Security Guard in one of the coast townships. Being a sociable sort of lad, he was in the local "cop shop" the other night swapping yarns with the station sergeant; and during the evening the following came to light:—

The sergeant was enrolling his first batch of recruits, taking down a full list of data—name, address, 'phone number; whether applicant possessed car, motor cycle, or merely plain push bike; telescope, binoculars, or such-like and whatnot Rooting round the station office for some sort of suitable book in which to enter the relevant details, he discovered one with exactly the correct number of columns per page.

Wiping the dust of ages from the tome, he was no time getting his entries completed, and now every member of that L.S.G. district is enrolled in a weighty volume, the cover of which proclaims it to be "The Dublin Metropolitan Police—Register of Habitual Drunkards."

Treasures

A friend of mine has just been clearing out an old desk and has come across many "treasures," some of which he has passed on to me.

One of the first documents to come to light was a press copy of the Treaty of Peace between the "Allied and Associated Powers" and Austria—the treaty signed at Saint-Germain-en-Laye on September 10th, 1919.

Another treaty discovered was that between Great Britain and Ireland—the copy being one of those circulated at the Dail session of December 14th, 1921. Enclosed in this was a duplicated copy of Mr. de Valera's instructions to plenipotentiaries dated October 7th, 1921, and a copy of the Dail Order Paper of December 20th, 1921, bearing the late Arthur Griffith's motion for the acceptance of the Treaty, and Mr. de Valera's counter-motion.

A little deeper down in the pile of papers he came across the official publication (October, 1921) containing the official correspondence relating to the peace negotiations between Great Britain and Ireland, covering the period June to September, 1921.

Theatre Programmes

The butty in question was a keen theatre-goer in his younger days, and many old programmes were unearthed. These included an Abbey programme of January 26th, 1907, when Synge's "Riders to the Sea" and "The Playboy of the Western World" were produced.

Among the cast for "Riders to the Sea" was Sara Allgood, W. G. Fay, Maire O'Neill, Annie Allgood and J. M. Kerrigan. The cast for "The Playboy" included W. G. and F. J. Fay, Arthur Sinclair, Maire O'Neill, Sara Allgood and J. A. O'Rourke.

There are programme notes by Synge, who replies to critics of his phraseology and types. He remarks: "Nearly always when some friendly or angry critic tells me that such or such a phrase could not have been spoken by a peasant, he singles out some expression that I have heard, word for word, from some old woman or child, and the same is true also, to some extent of the actions and incidents I work with."

At that time Miss A. E. F. Horniman was lessee of the Abbey and the productions which immediately followed Synge's plays were Moliere's comedy, "The Doctor in Spite of Himself" (translated by Lady Gregory), and another comedy, "The Eloquent Dempsey," by William Boyle.

RUMANIA BOWS TO RUSSIAN ULTIMATUM

DEMAND FOR RETURN OF BESSARABIA

Part of Bukowina Also Claimed

RUMANIA DECIDES TO CEDE BOTH

Hungary Also Looking For Old Territory

DRAMATIC events in the Near East claimed the attention of the public everywhere in Europe last night. Russia, whose troops, it is said, had been massing near the old Polish-Rumanian frontier, presented Rumania with an ultimatum, claiming the return to Russia of pre-war Czarist Bessarabia and the Northern part of Bukowina Province.

It was reported also that the Soviet's demands included the control of Costanza, and of Braila and Galatz ports, which would permit Russia to dominate Danubian navigation.

The air became filled with rumours of an impending clash in a new theatre of war, and the decision of the Rumanian Royal Council, which had been hastily summoned and held two sessions during the day, was awaited with anxiety.

Late last night a Rumanian official communiqué stated:—

> "The Crown Council, under the presidency of His Majesty the King, took note of the demands of the Soviet to cede to Russia Bessarabia and the Northern part of Bukowina. With the desire to maintain good relations with the Soviet, the Rumanian Government asked the Soviet to fix the locality and name the delegation to discuss Russian demands."

Officials said that this meant that King Carol would satisfy all Russian demands.

Later messages announced that Rumania had decided to cede Bessarabia and Northern Bukowina.

Meantime it became known that Rumania was concentrating large forces in Transylvania, near the Hungarian frontier, to resist a possible attempt by Hungary to regain any part of Rumanian territory.

Hungary's chief territorial aims are the return of Transylvania, which was ceded to Rumania after the last war, and also territory which had been ceded to Yugoslavia.

RUSSIA EXPECTED TO MARCH TO-DAY

RUMANIA MOVES TWO MILLION MEN

BUCHAREST, Thursday.

Rumanian and Russian diplomatic officials conferred late to-night on the details of King Carol's agreement to the Soviet ultimatum for the cession of Bessarabia and Northern Bukovina.

At the same time the General Staff swiftly started moving nearly two million men into Transylvania to meet an expected Hungarian move.

Although the Soviet ultimatum expired at 10 p.m., there were no indications an hour later that the Soviet had started to march. It was understood in Bucharest that the Soviet had agreed to with-hold action until the formal completion of diplomatic talks between the Rumanian Foreign Office and members of the Russian Legation.

The occupation is expected to begin on Friday.

HUNGARY'S VIEW

The Hungarian Government wireless, announcing King Carol of Rumania's acceptance of the Russian ultimatum, declared: "Thus the integrity of Rumanian territory, about which so many debates have been heard during the last twenty years, exists no more."

The Rome radio announced that Count Teleki to-night conferred with the German and Italian representatives to examine the situation created by the Soviet.—Associated Press

Press Association Foreign Special.

Mr. Crerar (Minister of Mines) informed the House of Commons here to-day that the first 3,000 British children who are being sent to Canada for the duration of the war will arrive in mid-July. Additional groups will arrive at five-day intervals until July 25.

Mr. Crerar said that the British Government had been unable hitherto to estimate the total number coming to Canada, but he felt that it would reach "very large dimensions."

Canada is prepared to receive any number of British children, Mr. Crerar told the House of Commons, after reading a cable he had just received from the Canadian High Commissioner in London.

The Board has placed orders for a year's output of the factories.

NEW FRENCH DECREES

Governor-General Recalled

APPOINTMENT TO MADAGASCAR

Press Association War Special.

Thursday.

MARSHAL PETAIN has ordered the recall of General Catroux, Governor-General of French Indo-China, who is reported to have declared his determination to fight on, in spite of the Government's armistice with Germany and Italy. He is replaced by Vice-Admiral Decoux.

Marshal Pétain's action was announced in a delayed message received from the Havas Agency in Bordeaux to-day.

General Catroux was one of the outstanding French generals in the Riff campaign in Morocco in 1925-1926, which ended with the surrender of Abd-el-Krim.

Admiral Decoux attended the Anglo-French Defence Conference in Singapore in June, 1939, in his capacity of Commander-in-Chief of the French Naval Forces in the Far East.

SPECIAL MISSIONS

It is also announced that M. Leon Cayla, former Governor-General of French West Africa, has been appointed Governor-General of Madagascar, a post which he has held previously. The appointments are made in a decree signed by President Lebrun, which also announces that M. Gaston Bonnet, on political affairs in the Chamber, is to go on special mission for the [illegible] fence and of French property in Syria, New Caledonia and the French overseas possessions.

"M. de Boisson, Governor-General of French West Africa and of French Equatorial Africa, is appointed High Commissioner for French Africa, with authority over West Africa, Equatorial territories of [illegible] and the mandated territories of Togoland and Cameroons. The decree also names General Mittelhauser, G.O.C. in Tunisia, as Chief of General Noguès, the French Commander-in-Chief in North Africa.

The Havas Agency message also details the French appointments to the Franco-German and Franco-Italian Armistice Commissions.

"BE PROUD OF YOURSELVES"

WEYGAND'S ORDER TO ARMIES

Addressed to "officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the armies of France" the following order of the day has been issued by General Weygand:—

"After a ceaseless bloody battle, you have been ordered to stop fighting.

"If the battle has gone against you, at least you have all responded magnificently to my appeals to your patriotism, your bravery and your tenacity.

"Our adversaries have paid tribute to your fighting qualities which have been worthy of our glories and our traditions.

"Honour is saved. Be proud of yourselves. In the satisfaction of having done your duty hold on to unfailing confidence in the destiny of France which in the course of past centuries surmounts all misfortunes.

"Remain united and confident in your leaders, continue to submit yourselves to the strictest discipline. Under such conditions neither your sufferings nor the sacrifices of our comrades who have fallen will have been in vain.

"Your mission is not ended. The moral and material redemption of your country will be your work for to-morrow. Take heart, my friends. Long live France."—(P.A. War Special.)

"RESIST," SAYS DE GAULLE

SPECIAL MESSAGE FOR NORTH AFRICA

General de Gaulle, broadcasting in French last night, said:—

"In the name of France, I formally make the following declaration:—Every Frenchman who still has arms has an absolute duty to continue resistance. To lay down arms, to evacuate a military position, to agree to submitting to enemy control any portion of French soil, any acre of French possessions, would be a crime against our country.

"I am speaking, above all, for French North Africa—for North Africa which is intact. The Italian armistice is nothing but a clumsy trick. In the Africa of Clauzel, of Bugeaud, of Lyautey, of Noguès, every man of honour has the stern duty of refusing to execute the enemy's conditions.

"It would be intolerable if the panic of Bordeaux were to cross the sea.

"Soldiers of France, wherever you may be, stand firm."

MILLIONS MORE FOR U.S. DEFENCE

22 NEW WARSHIPS AND THOUSANDS OF 'PLANES

From Reuter's Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Thursday.

President Roosevelt to-day signed a supplementary defence bill, giving the United States War and Navy departments 1,479,777,000 dollars—about £369,944,000—in cash appropriations, and authority to make additional contracts totalling 289,000,000 dollars—about £72,250,000. This is in addition to the regular 2,800,000,000 dollar appropriations which Congress voted for the Army and Navy for the coming fiscal year. The supplementary bill will enable the navy to begin construction of 22 warships and speed up the construction of over 100 others. It will enable the Army to build thousands of new aeroplanes, construct anti-aircraft batteries and expand sea coast defences.

R.A.F. REPEAT RAIDS ON GERMANY

Bases in Holland Heavily Bombed

THREE RAIDERS SHOT DOWN OVER ENGLAND

ROYAL Air Force bombers yesterday carried out more daylight raids on Germany, and returned without loss after attacking oil refineries near Hanover and at Bremen.

The German Air Force lost three bombers in Wednesday night's attack on Britain, while a fourth was seriously damaged.

Four of the crew of one Heinkel were rescued from the sea and landed at an English East coast port.

ATTACKS ALONG THE RHINE

The British Air Ministry, in a communiqué last night, stated:—

"Yesterday R.A.F. bombers made daylight raids into Germany. In spite of enemy fighter attacks, an oil plant at Gelsenkirchen and railway sidings at Soest were bombed. One of our aircraft is missing.

"During last night further bombing operations were carried out. Our aircraft attacked seaplane bases at Texel and Helger, and aerodromes at Schipol, Waalhaven and De Kooy in Holland. Aerodromes at Dortnund and Bonn and at Handorf, near Munster, and Langenhagen, near Hanover, were also bombed.

REFINERY ATTACKED

"Attacks were made on an oil refinery at Cologne, and on an explosive factory at Ludwigshaven, near Mannheim. Marshalling yards and railway junctions at Osnabruck, Rheydt, Hamm and Soest were hit.

"Other bombers attacked the docks, lock gates and bridges at Willermsoord and Genemuiden, in Holland. Two of our bombers are missing.

"To-day our bombers again raided Germany in daylight. An oil refinery at Misburg, near Hanover, was hit and fires started. Other bombers attacked oil refineries at Bremen and a factory at Salzbergen. All our aircraft returned safely.

BATTLE OVER FRANCE

"This morning our fighter patrols over France attacked two enemy aircraft, one of which they destroyed.

"Four members of the crew of a Heinkel bomber that took part in the raids on this country last night were landed at an East Coast port to-day. It is thus confirmed that three enemy bombers were destroyed in these operations. A fourth is known to have been seriously damaged."

A footnote to the communiqué compares the losses with the German High Command communiqué version, to which a loss of only one aircraft is admitted.

23 KILLED IN RAIDS ON MALTA

SEVEN ALARMS IN 28 HOURS

MALTA, Thursday.

Malta this morning had its seventh air raid in 28 hours. The sound of heavy firing was heard. Alarms were sounded at 9 a.m. and 11.15.

Twenty-three civilians were killed and several wounded last evening in the most severe of the five raids yesterday, during which about 70 bombs were dropped. One bomb hit a 'bus-full of passengers, most of whom were killed. There was some damage to private property. The bombers were driven off by British fighter 'planes and anti-aircraft fire.

Most of the bombs dropped during the other raids yesterday, which started at 7.30 a.m. and continued throughout the morning and afternoon, fell into the sea or on uninhabited and non-military areas.—(P.A. War Special.)

THIRTY ITALIAN BOMBS ON KENYA

NO DAMAGE OR CASUALTIES

NAIROBI, Thursday.

An official communiqué issued here to-day states that when three aircraft yesterday attacked British Moyale—on the borders of Kenya and Abyssinia—fifteen bombs were dropped, but no damage was done.

Two aeroplanes attacked Wajir to-day. Again fifteen bombs were dropped and also grenades, without causing any damage or casualties.

'PLANE EXPLODES IN FLIGHT

MACHINE STRUCK IN BOMB CHAMBER

"There was a sudden flash in front of me and I saw pieces of metal falling through the sky." That is how the fighter pilot described the end of the Junkers 88, which "exploded in mid-air" off the English East coast during the raids early yesterday, states the British Air Ministry News Service.

When the Spitfire pilot, a flying officer, closed to attack, the Junkers had already been caught by the searchlights, and was brilliantly lit up. He gave the Junkers two short bursts at close range. The bullets must have struck the bomb storage chamber of the German aircraft; for there was a blinding flash, which momentarily dazzled the pilot. He saw pieces of metal dropping through the air. Some of these struck his aircraft and lodged in his radiator cowling, but did no damage. Then the Junkers fell in pieces towards the sea. No trace of the shattered aircraft has been found.

BREMEN OFF THE AIR

Bremen medium and long-wave stations were off the air at 9.15 last night. This is usually a sign of R.A.F. activity.

Hamburg was operating at reduced strength.—(P.A. War Special.)

LATE NEWS

GERMAN 'PLANES OVER ENGLAND

DEFENCES GO INTO ACTION

A British Air Ministry communiqué this morning announced that German aircraft crossed the coast during the night. Anti-aircraft defences went into action.

'Planes, believed to be German, were reported over South-Eastern England early to-day.

The raiders flew at a great height. Bombs were heard falling in the distance.

Both Hamburg and Bremen were off the air at 12.15 a.m.

Raiders over North-East England were met by bursts of anti-aircraft fire. In one district distant thuds believed due to bombs were heard.

German aircraft over South-East Scotland dropped four bombs in fields. No damage was done.

Many incendiary bombs were dropped in one area of North-East England. One went through the roof of a small out-building, causing a fire, which was quickly extinguished.

Five or six high explosive bombs also were reported to have been dropped in North-East England, but no material damage was done.

NEW ZEALAND'S WAR BILL

NEW TAXES TO RAISE £37,500,000

From Reuter's Correspondent.

WELLINGTON, Thursday.

To meet New Zealand's war expenditure, increases in existing taxes and new taxation are proposed in the Budget presented to-day by Mr. Walter Nash, the Finance Minister.

The estimated war expenditure totals £37,500,000, and of this £19,750,000 represents expenditure overseas.

A national security tax of a shilling in the pound on all income is being imposed, in addition to the present shilling social security tax. Sales tax is increased from 5 to 10 per cent.

Income tax now starts at half-a-crown a pound for the first hundred pounds taxable income, instead of two shillings, as formerly. It rises by threepence for each hundred pounds until it reaches twelve shillings for incomes over £3,800. Company taxation rises from half-a-crown to a maximum of eight shillings and ninepence on incomes over £7,950.

The last financial year showed a surplus of £319,000, and the public debt increased by nearly £19,000,000.

Zurich, Thursday.—The newspaper Der Bund to-day reports that over 7,000 civilian refugees from France have been interned near Romont.

ROYAL COUNCIL IN SESSION

The first session of the Rumanian Royal Council ended at 3.40 yesterday and a fresh session began at 5 p.m.

The Rumanian Government, according to a Bucharest report, had asked Moscow to send delegates to meet M. Grigor Gafencu, the Rumanian Foreign Minister, for a discussion of the Soviet demands. The War Ministry's mobilisation order was regarded as a precautionary measure rather than indicative of an intention to oppose the Russian demands with force. Anti-aircraft guns were installed on buildings.

Foreign military observers in Bucharest said that heavy concentrations of Red troops, tanks and artillery were massing along the Dniester River and along the old Polish-Rumanian frontier.

Foreign military Attachés received reports of many squadrons of Red warplanes flying over Bessarabia and Bukowina. Earlier in the day diplomatic quarters in Bucharest said that the Rumanian Grand Council, meeting under King Carol had decided to accede to the Russian ultimatum. The ultimatum was said to have been handed to the Rumanian Minister, M. Davidescu, in Moscow by the Soviet Premier, Viacheslav Molotov.

NEW YORK REPORT

According to the German radio broadcast heard in New York, Russia had made "requests" for the immediate cession by Rumania of "all Rumanian territories inhabited chiefly by Ukrainians."

Some quarters in Bucharest believed that the Italian and German Ministers had urged King Carol to agree to the Russian requests.

German official sources in Berlin, however, despite the New York broadcast, took their usual line by stating that Germany was "disinterested" in the affair

The Rumanian Air Lines suspended traffic to Bessarabia last night after a reported clash between Rumanian and Russian 'planes.

Reports from Cernauti, in Northern Rumania, said that four Russian 'planes were fired on near there, and one was shot down. Others were reported to have bombed a near-by village.

M. Ion Mikhailache, the Peasant Leader, who was recently taken into the Government as a member of the Royal Council, last night announced his retirement to private life. He gave no explanation for this move.

RUMANIA'S DECISION

KING'S MEETING WITH ENVOYS

Press Association Foreign Special.

BUCHAREST, Thursday.

Rumania has decided to cede to Soviet Russia the whole of the Bessarabia and two districts of Bukovina, it was learnt from unofficial, but responsible, Rumanian circles to-day.

This decision follows a demand from Russia in the nature of an ultimatum to establish Soviet garrisons and aerodromes in Bessarabia and Northern Bukovina, and Soviet bases at various Danubian ports.

General mobilisation, it is learnt from the same source, has been proclaimed in Rumania, chiefly as a precaution against any Hungarian revisionist move against Transylvania.

Before the meeting of the Crown Council King Carol is said to have received the German and Italian Ministers.

'RUMANIA'S VIEW OF THE SITUATION

An authoritative Rumanian in London told Reuter that he personally thought Rumania's position was such that she would naturally give way to Russia's demands.

"This is in view of the developments in France, the attitude of Turkey, and the impossibility of Great Britain giving any effective help to Rumania at present. Any armed resistance would only bring about the sacrifice of human life without affecting the final result."

COSTANZA REPORT DENIED

Reports from Bucharest quoted by the Rome radio last night said it was untrue that the Soviet demands included Constanza and other Danubian ports.

The Rome radio said that the Rumanian Crown Council, having decided to open conversations with the Soviet Government, had appointed a commission, "which is disposed to meet the Russian demands in a spirit of collaboration."

THE CEDED TERRITORIES

Bessarabia was under Russian rule from 1812 until April, 1918—when the Bessarabian Diet decided for union with Rumania. It covers 17,000 square miles, and the population of almost three millions includes about 1,800,000 Rumanians, 400,000 Russians, 400,000 Ukranians, and 200,000 Jews.

The Bukovina ("Beech Land") was united with Rumania in November, 1918. There are considerable mineral deposits.

GUARDIAN OF THE DARDANELLES

TURKISH FLEET IN THE BLACK SEA

Associated Press.

ISTANBUL, Thursday.

A Turkish naval squadron steamed through the Bosphorus to-day to the Black Sea, ready to defend the Straits against attack. Aeroplanes circled overhead and anti-aircraft guns took up their positions.

These top-speed military preparations showed Turkey's determination to defend her territory in her historic rôle as guardian of the Dardanelles.

News of the Russian ultimatum to Rumania caused grave concern. The main fear appeared to be that there might be a general move in this direction, with the Straits as the ultimate goal.

REPORTED LETTER FROM HERR HITLER

BUDAPEST, Thursday.

According to a reliable source, Count Teleki, the Hungarian Premier, has received a letter from Hitler declaring that Hungary's "territorial aims will be met."

The letter was a reply to a communication from Count Teleki expressing pleasure over the German victory.

The Fuehrer, according to this source, said that he was gratified by Hungary's attitude, and indicated that she would be rewarded.

Hungary's chief "territorial aims" are for the return of Transylvania, ceded to Rumania after the last war, and for the return of territory similarly ceded to Yugoslavia.

HUNGARY'S AIMS

RUMANIAN ARMY MASSING

BUCHAREST, Thursday.

The Rumanian Government, officials told the Associated Press to-night, is accepting the Soviet ultimatum for the cession of Bessarabia and Northern Bukowina.

In a request to Russia for postponement of expiration of the ultimatum, Rumania suggested that the delegates be sent to meet the Rumanian Foreign Minister for the discussion of the demands.

War 'planes patrolled the airport at Bucharest, and anti-aircraft guns were installed on buildings.

It was officially learned that the Rumanian army is being concentrated in Transylvania, near the Hungarian frontier.

Official quarters believe that King Carol accepted the Russian demands in order to be able to mass his forces against an expected Hungarian attempt to regain Transylvania.

PRODUCTION OF MUNITIONS

BRITAIN'S OUTPUT LEAPING FORWARD

TANKS UP 115 PER CENT. IN A MONTH

A TREMENDOUS jump in production of all forms of munitions was indicated by Mr. Herbert Morrison, Minister of Supply, initiating a debate in the House of Commons last night on the work of the Department, which he took over seven weeks ago.

Mr. Morrison gave the following percentage figures, showing increases in the monthly rate of production in June, as compared with April:—

Cruiser and infantry tanks—115 per cent.; carriers, 64.

Guns—From 50 per cent.; for two items, up to 228 per cent.

Small arms—increases ranging between 40 and 186 per cent.

Ammunition of various kinds—increases ranging between 35 and 420 per cent.

THE NEW SPIRIT

There had been a fine response from workpeople to the appeals of Ministers and trade unions, and managers of industry had cordially co-operated. As an instance of the new spirit they were now trying to bring about, he said that on June 19 he gave orders for very large quantities—millions—of a certain weapon. Already the output had reached nearly a quarter of a million a week—between four and five times the previous production. That output would grow.

These facts were encouraging, but he did not wish it to be believed that things were satisfactory. He could only say they were coming nearer and nearer to satisfaction as the days passed along.

MAKING OF TANKS

Two things where fundamental change was carried through were in regard to machine tools and tanks. It was necessary to get decisions as to what kinds of tanks were wanted. There was no clarification, and the list of tanks they were making was a very wide one. Therefore the Tank Board made a recommendation which the Minister of War and he thought was right, that the military opinion as to what was wanted must come so far as possible from one focal point.

The two representatives of the War Office upon the new Tank Board—General Pope and Brigadier-General Pratt—both had fought with tanks in the present operations in France. It would be for them and the Tank Board to say what the War Office wanted. He had asked that a decision should be come to upon the tanks required with all possible speed. Meanwhile, they were concentrating on the greatest possible output of tanks which had proved to be satisfactory.

OFFENCE AND DEFENCE

He was prepared to deal ruthlessly and speedily with big faults in organisation, inefficiency, or slackness wherever they existed. While concentrating on production, he was not forgetting the longer view, because it was hoped that the period of the last few weeks would, in due course, change, and they must think of offensive, as well as defensive, measures. (Cheers.)

Expressing his determination to use his special powers where necessary, he said that, on the other hand, he was not going to use them in pursuit of any particular pet theory. What he wanted was production, and where firms were efficient and public-spirited, and the active management was good, the more elbow-room and freedom one gave to that management, and the less meticulous instructions from a State Department, the better.

RAW MATERIAL AND LABOUR

He was not going to give instructions for the purpose of exercising his authority, but if they played the fool with the public interest he would be on top of them. Action had already been taken in a number of directions.

Referring to complaints from industrialists, Mr. Morrison said he had decided to appoint a director of special inquiries, who would see the persons concerned and find whether there was anything in these complaints. The raw material position, broadly, could be described as satisfactory. On the labour supply, Mr. Bevin had been bold, imaginative, and helpful.

SOURCES OF SUPPLY

They were using to the full the country's sources of production, which were now up to £15,000,000 per annum, instead of £10,000,000. They were buying machine tools from abroad at the rate of £1,500,000 a month. It was calculated that machine tools were now being made available from all sources at the rate of 80,000 per annum.

Compulsory powers would be taken to ensure the collection of salvage by local authorities. This would be followed by compulsory powers to require the householders to play up.

The imports of munitions from the Empire and United States were growing. Orders to the value of nearly £5,000,000 had been placed in Canada in the last few weeks. Australia was sending immediately small arms, munitions in large quantities from their own stocks of bombs, shells and fuses. The whole of the available surplus capacity in India had been taken up and private firms were being brought into production.

"Very big things are being done in India, and the most excellent spirit exists there to help us."

At the conclusion of Mr. Morrison's speech the House went into secret session.

"BRITAIN WILL HOLD OUT"

THE NEED FOR STRONG HEARTS

Britain is the strong point that will hold on and hold out in the very jaws of the enemy—while the rest of the civilised world mobilises its resources for victory, Mr. Herbert Morrison, Minister of Supply, declared in a broadcast last night.

His words were heard by Britain, the Empire and the United States.

He was anxious not to give the impression that salvation was just around the corner, and that they should be a nation amply equipped for total and widespread war within the short time, but progress was good and By Guild be better.

"But," he said, "weapons and munitions of war are not all we need. We need to steel our hearts, and to blunt the edge of that weapon of terror which is so persistently and so deliberately used against us. The Germans have never yet beaten a country which they had not first weakened and eaten away from within."

MISS MARY BORDEN SAFE

"MISSING" UNIT NOW IN LONDON

The Hadfield-Spears mobile unit, headed by Miss Mary Borden, the novelist, which has been serving in France, is safe. Telegrams from Miss Borden, the eleven nurses and fourteen women drivers yesterday told of their arrival at an English port. This was the first news of the unit since June 15th, when it was known that they had left their headquarters, about 10 miles behind the Maginot Line and had reached Central France on their way south.

Miss Borden is the wife of Brigadier-General Spears. Her unit, financed by Lady Hadfield, wife of Sir Robert Hadfield, just escaped the German encirclement.

The "missing" unit arrived in London last night.

The latest information that the French Embassy have concerning M. Paul Reynaud is that he is still in Bordeaux.

JAPAN'S BLOCKADE OF HONG KONG

INVASION PLAN DENIED

PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.

TOKYO, Thursday.

Japan's blockade of Hong Kong from the land was carried a stage farther to-day, when advance units of the Japanese army in South China occupied the eastern extremity of the peninsula. Japanese troops are now stationed at most points along the border, including Shayuyung, which field dispatches received here describe as an important entrepot for the supply of arms to General Kai-Shek.

The Japanese occupation of the eastern border of French Indo-China is also proceeding methodically. A large force is now reported to have established itself near Lungchow, some seven miles from the border of the road and railway to Nanking, the capital of Kwangsi province. Other troops have taken Mingkiang. The railway to Yunnanfu, traversing the northern frontier of the territory, is for the moment out of their reach.

While the Japanese plan to sever all communication between Indo-China and Chungking, it is emphasised here that they have no intention of invading French territory. M. Arsene Henry, the French Ambassador in Tokyo, to-day informed the Japanese Government of Marshal Pétain's action in appointing Vice-Admiral Decoux to succeed General Catroux as Governor-General of Indo-China.

CHUNGKING BOMBED

MOSLEM AND HINDU LEADERS

TO SEE VICEROY

"TIMES" FOREIGN SPECIAL.

SIMLA, Thursday.

The Viceroy to-day granted an interview to Mr. Jinnah, President of the Moslem League, who sought a clarification of the issues affecting the collaboration of the League with the Government, particularly as regards the intensification of the country's war effort. It is assumed that the talk included an examination of the constitutional controversy in an effort to see to what extent the League and other political parties are prepared to collaborate with the Government for the duration of the war, pending a final settlement of the constitutional problem.

Mr. Gandhi is seeing the Viceroy on Saturday. The opportunity will doubtless be taken with both Mr. Gandhi and Mr. Jinnah to clear up any misconceptions that may exist as to the British Government's intentions and attitude to the constitutional question. It is significant, however, that the Nationalist Press is now demanding the creation forthwith of a provisional national government, to be regarded for all purposes as a Dominion government.—(Copyright, per P.A.).

THE LATE MR. JOSEPH WILSON'S PICTURES

The paintings of an art student, Mr. Joseph Wilson, of Cove, who lost his life in a canoe accident in Cork Harbour on Saturday last, were among the pictures displayed for the past two days at the Cork School of Art's stand at the Cork Summer Show.

One of Mr. Wilson's works was unfinished, and an official of the School of Art told an Irish Times reporter that he was engaged in decorating the school with murals of famous Cork artists. Mr. Wilson had completed his final examinations—the results of which have not yet been issued—and it was expected that he would win a scholarship to the National College of Art in Dublin.

OFFER TO BRITISH UNIVERSITIES

CANADA TO TAKE REFUGEE STUDENTS

PRESS ASSOCIATION FOREIGN SPECIAL.

Dr. F. C. James, Principal of McGill University, told officials of a scheme to open facilities at McGill to British refugee students, especially women. He said that McGill University had offered London, Oxford and Manchester Universities to do everything possible to provide facilities for students whose studies were threatened with curtailment because of the war.

One of the main problems, he added, was to find a way of raising funds for the maintenance of students on account of the restrictions against taking money out of Britain.

GATE THEATRE GARDEN PARTY

A NEW SKETCH

At the Gate Theatre Garden Party, which will be held to-morrow at Grosvenor Park, Rathmines, the residence of the Earl and Countess of Longford, the principal attraction will be the performance of a short sketch entitled "The Three Blisters."

Mr. Sean Dorman, who is responsible for the script, is a nephew of Mr. Lennox Robinson, and is a well-known free-lance journalist and radio author. At present he is writing a novel.

The idea of writing a burlesque on Tchekov's famous play, "The Three Sisters," was suggested to him at a recent tea-party. The result is an amusing parody, with many local allusions and references to the recent correspondence on the subject which have been appearing in the columns of this paper.

The cast consists of members of the Longford Productions and of the Edwards-MacLiammoir Company, and the sketch is produced by Cecil Brock, who also takes a part himself. Valuable assistance is given by Billy Armstrong, of the Red Tigers Band, who is responsible for co-ordinating the swing music which breaks out now and then throughout the dialogue. Those taking part in the programme are Mairin Hayes, Roy Irving, Basil Ford, Blake Gifford, Maureen Halligan, Cecil Brock, and Hamlyn Benson.

Other attractions at the garden party include an ice cream bar, where American ice cream, made from original recipes, may be obtained, and also a cocktail bar, as in former years.

Fortune-tellers and numerous competitions and side-shows also should prove popular. The arrangements are in the hands of a committee of which Lady Longford is chairman.

Motor cars and cycles and accessories netted only £231,621, owing to change in rates. In 1934 the receipts from this source were £875,000.

Bookmakers' licences, which numbered 570 in the year, brought in £5,700. The number was 16 higher than in the previous year. The number of publicans' licences issued during the year was three less than the previous year, and the receipts, at £182,642, were proportionately smaller. OBITUARY

LADY CONAN DOYLE

Lady Conan Doyle, widow of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, creator of "Sherlock Holmes," died in London yesterday. Lady Conan Doyle devoted her life not only to her distinguished husband, but to an ideal. Her ideal was to share unselfishly his work and his beliefs. Since Sir Arthur died in July, 1930, she had continued her work unceasingly, firmly believing in the presence of her husband and in his interest in, and knowledge of, all that was done. In her country home, overlooking the garden where her husband's remains were placed, Lady Conan Doyle lay ill for many weeks, but was comforted by the belief that her husband was watching over her. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle never doubted that after his death he would communicate with the world. His message has been awaited with interest by Spiritualists. Messages have appeared in many parts of the world claiming to be from Sir Arthur, but Lady Conan Doyle gave a warning that many of them were not in the least respect authentic. She said that through a medium she had continually received evidence of her husband's nearness and of his intimate knowledge of all that concerned the family.

Lady Conan Doyle was a daughter of the late James Blythe Leckie, of Monkstown, Crowborough, Sussex. She married Sir Arthur Conan Doyle as his second wife in 1907. There are two sons and a daughter.

AERO ENGINES FOR BRITAIN

U.S. TREASURY CHIEF'S STATEMENT

PRESS ASSOCIATION WAR SPECIAL.

WASHINGTON, Thursday.

"I just can't imagine the British being shut off from their own engines," said Mr. Morgenthau, Secretary of the Treasury, at a Press conference to-day, when he upheld the United States Government's insistence that any American manufacturer making Rolls Royce aeroplane engines for the United States should also make them for Britain. "As a matter of fairness and policy," he said, the Administration had to cancel negotiations with Mr. Ford when he refused to manufacture the engines except for the United States.

DEMONSTRATION BY MACAURA

Approximately 600 people went to the National Stadium, South Circular road, Dublin, on Wednesday night to see Macaura, the inventor of the Fulscaura, demonstrate the use of that machine-osteopath, which, he claims, solves the problem of rheumatism, arthritis and other painful ailments.

Several people received treatment, and all professed to have benefited greatly as a result. They included men and women who, according to their own statements, had suffered, one from rheumatism, for seven and fifteen years, respectively; an old soldier who could not stand without holding something and who said, as he walked away on his two sticks, that Macaura had done more for him in five minutes than had been done for him in five years; a woman who had arthritis for fifteen years, and a girl who had neuritis in the head for two years.

Macaura observed that chronic rheumatism could not be cured by a few treatments. The only way was to have a machine at home, and he was willing to lend a machine to sufferers to use at home, to test its efficacy. He had a number of people present who had been cured by him, but they were too nervous to come to the platform.

A woman came forward and stated that she had suffered from chronic asthma for nine or ten years, and had been cured by Macaura three years ago. Since then she had not any asthma at all.

A child was given the machine to manipulate to show its simplicity in use, and the subject declared that she had received benefit.

Scotland has now the 30,000 allotments aimed at by the Allotments' Committee when it began its "dig" in April. "These allotments," Sir Robert Greig stated, "will save 150,000 tons of shipping.

Ryan (Chairman, 5th Battalion), and Robert Somerville, Financial Secretary of the Association, repudiate the allegations in their entirety. They state that no men were sent to call on Held by them, or any officer of the Association; that no funds were deposited with Held or any other person, and that all funds of the Association are dealt with by banking in the ordinary way.

AMERICA'S DEPENDENCE ON BRITISH FLEET

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Thursday.

"We will have no more choice between peace and war than had Norway, Belgium or Holland, should Britain be decisively beaten," declared the Governor of New York, Mr. Herbert Lehman, in a speech to a meeting of the Military Training Camps Association here to-day. "The only reason we have been safe in the past," added the Governor, "is because we have always had the protection of the great fleet of our friendly sister democracy—Great Britain."

Declaring that "the choice between peace and war will always lie with dictator nations," Governor Lehman added: "Obviously we must do everything possible to protect ourselves. Even in times of peace I have long favoured universal military training. In this emergency I consider it absolutely essential to our defence."

JAPAN AND THE WAR IN EUROPE

"NO THIRD POWER INTERFERENCE"

"TIMES" FOREIGN SPECIAL.

TOKYO, Thursday.

Mr. Arita, the Foreign Minister, is expected on Saturday to make an important declaration of policy regarding Eastern Asia in relation to the European war.

The conquest of Holland and the capitulation of France have raised the question of their colonies, and Mr. Arita presumably intends to assert the paramount interest of Japan in the matter.

The Asahi calls the statement a "declaration for the firm establishment of the independent possession of Eastern Asia," and says that it will declare that the destiny of Eastern Asia is also the destiny of Japan. By implication at least it will repudiate any pretensions to dispose of those colonies without the consent of Japan.

It is improbable that Mr. Arita's statement now will determine their future, but his skilful taking of first steps and his declaration on Saturday will lay the foundations on which Japan can build substantial annexes to the new order in Eastern Asia when the time comes.

The Asahi's forecast reads: "Interference by a third Power in Eastern Asia cannot be admitted. As a stabilising influence in Eastern Asia Japan intends to prevent the European war from spreading to this region. Japan will maintain peace and order, and continue the policy of promoting mutual help and economic self-sufficiency. A speedy settlement in China continues to be the primary object of the Japanese Government, and our efforts to that end will continue."—(Copyright, per Press Association.)

RIGHT OF ENTRY INTO NORTHERN IRELAND

ENGLISH MEMBER'S QUESTION

In the British House of Commons yesterday, Mr. F. S. Cocks (Labour) asked the Home Secretary what reply he had made to the repeated representations of the Government of Northern Ireland on the dangers of the unrestricted right of entry into that country from Southern Ireland.

Sir John Anderson—I explained, in reply to questions on June 20, the result of my consultations with the Government of Northern Ireland on this subject. Sir John added that he had "not the slightest idea" what Mr. Cocks meant by his reference to "repeated representations."

When Mr. D. G. Logan (Labour) asked whether the Minister would "take steps with regard to the whole of Ireland, that they should get united," there was no reply.

DANTE'S MASTERPIECE

COUNT TOMACELLI'S VIEWS

Count Dr. Eduardo Tomacelli, of the Italian Legation, gave the first of two lectures on certain of the basic ideas to be found in Dante's masterpiece at the Academy of Christian Art. Count Tomacelli is a member of the Dante Alighieri Society and President of the Dublin Dante Circle, which is devoted to the study of the "Divine Comedy." Mr. L. S. Gogan, Vice-President, Academy of Christian Art, presided.

Count Tomacelli, in the course of his paper, said that the hidden beauties and teachings to be found in every part of Dante's great work deserved to be more fully investigated and understood. The first cameo, or prologue, of the "Inferno" was of prime importance for the understanding of the whole work and its underlying Catholic philosophy. For example, the flight of the poet into the depths of the dark forest is intended to typify the state of the man of instinctive and vicious life; following the Aristotelian doctrine, he shows that this irrational life leads inevitably to misery. The sight of the abyss awakens his intellectual life, which illumines the road to happiness, represented as a radiant mountain. From the way still barred by wild beasts, themselves figures of moral obstacles, he is rescued by the poet Virgil, who foretells the coming of the Hound, which will destroy them and restore man's rights to freedom and happiness.

Count Tomacelli will lecture again next Wednesday.

"THE CHURCH OF IRELAND GAZETTE"

This week the first leading article in The Church of Ireland Gazette, entitled "Still More Prayer," calls attention to the recent letter of the Archbishops in the public Press, and comments upon the saints of the week, St. John Baptist and St. Peter. "The Tragedy of France" is the sad title of the second article, which appreciates what France suffers for, and hopes that she will rise from her tribulation. The Rev. F. W. R. Knowles writes a topical article upon "Sea Veterans." The text of a recent sermon by Canon Young, in the College Chapel, is printed in full.

CASE OF CAPTAIN RAMSAY

In the British House of Commons yesterday, Sir John Anderson, Home Secretary, was asked whether a charge had now been framed against Captain A. H. M. Ramsay. He replied that there was no question of framing a charge against a person detained under Defence Regulation 18 B. The information necessary to enable Captain Ramsay to put his case had been furnished to Captain Ramsay. He believed that the Advisory Committee had arranged to hear Captain Ramsay's case next week.

THE IRISH RED CROSS

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—In response to the appeal of the Irish Red Cross I offered the use of my services and premises for the duration of the present emergency. At their headquarters I was told that they did not deal with this, and would I try the Abbey street branch. Here I repeated the offer, and was asked to fill up a form. I agreed. I was then told that no form could be found. Having left my card, I departed. As I heard nothing from them, I repeated the offer by post. On 19-6-40 the Society replied, and in the course of the letter they remarked that they are "actually snowed under with offers," and that they would make a "special effort" to avail themselves of my services. In an evening paper of 21-5-40 the Red Cross appeal for any medical practitioner who is willing to offer his services to communicate with them "immediately." One would think that the Society would avail itself of existing offers before inviting another snowfall. Surely in such a grave crisis an organisation as vital as civil defence is worthy of more capable administration!—Yours, etc.,

MAURICE DAVIN-POWER, M.B., B.Ch.

6 DANGERS OF SUN... AND SEA

Motoring strain
* Glare * "Bather's eye" * Dusty Streets
* Sun headaches
* Hay fever

Summer-time is danger time for eyes—what with" sun-glare, sport and outdoor life generally. Hitting a ball over a net, keeping alert for catches in the slips, or simply basking in a deck-chair is a much greater wear on your eyes than you think. Motoring, cycling and bathing, too, all mean extra strain. And in town there's the constant irritation of germ-laden dust and petrol fumes; in the country or garden the risk of hay fever. Protect your eyes by using Optrex regularly every night and morning. Optrex soothes and eases them instantaneously. All germs and foreign matter are gently washed away. All the ache and irritation goes. Circulation is restored. Muscles are toned up. Back comes the natural healthy sparkle. And life seems twice as good again.

Optrex
EYE LOTION

* Optrex, which is recommended by Doctors and Opticians for the most sensitive eyes, is obtainable from all chemists at 2/3 (with free eye-bath). Triple size 3/9 (without eye-bath). Large family size 8/3 (with free eye-bath).

Whether you wear glasses or not, you should have your eyes examined regularly by a Qualified Practitioner.

DUBLIN DOCKYARD NEGOTIATIONS

DAIL REFERENCES RESENTED

At a meeting of the Dublin Port and Docks Board yesterday the Chairman (Captain A. S. Gordon) said that, unfortunately, he had not been at recent meetings of the sub-committee in charge of the Dublin Dockyard negotiations and the vice-chairman, who presided at the sub-committee, was away that day. He was, therefore, not in a position to make any statement, but it was open to any member of the sub-committee who wished to do so.

Mr. T. O'Connor said that as a member of the sub-committee he thought it most unhappy that Alderman Byrne, T.D., did not leave matters where they were when the Minister gave him a very appropriate reply, but had proceeded to infer that there were penal clauses or objectionable clauses in the lease which they were negotiating for the dockyard. No lease or no draft lease existed, and, therefore, there could be no objectionable clause. If such lease existed the information would be private, because at this stage it is confidential. He did not think that Alderman Byrne's interference would help things, and if the negotiations fell through, the public and the working men of Dublin might infer that it was because of penal clauses. It was very unhappy that a man who was not a member of the Port Board should intervene at this juncture, and as a member of the sub-committee he protested against such interference.

Senator D. D. Healy said that every member of the Board was as anxious as Alderman Byrne about the Dublin Dockyard.

The Chairman said that there was no question that they all wanted the dockyard reopened.

Mr. P. J. Munden said that the Board had taken special steps to have the machinery and plant looked after and ready to start the moment anyone stepped in.

Mr. D. J. Twohig said that Alderman Byrne, even when associated with the Board, was not conversant with the business methods of the Board. This matter of the dockyard had occupied the Sub-Committee's attention for almost six months. Arising out of this leakage of information he had considered seriously handing in his resignation. It was a gross insult that Alderman Byrne should be allowed to make this statement in public, and in a place where he could not be at once answered by a member of the Board. It should go from the Board to the Minister that the Committee were attending to this matter very thoroughly. Statements such as Alderman Byrne's in the Press were not going to help the situation; quite the contrary.

Senator Healy—The public, as well as the Minister, should be informed.

The Chairman said that he was glad that the two members of the Sub-Committee had made the position clear. There was no question that they were all anxious to have the dockyard reopened, and it was unfortunate that comment should be made on a matter on which the Sub-Committee had not yet reported to the Board.

CALLING UP OF VOLUNTEERS

The following statement has been issued through the Government Information Bureau: "Some men who have volunteered to serve in the Defence Forces during the present emergency have expressed anxiety at what seems to them an undue delay in calling them to the nearest military barracks for enlistment following the completion by them of National Service Enrolment Form No. 1.

"It is pointed out that the response to the call has been so great that the machinery of administration in every barracks involving enlistment, clothing, accommodation, appointment to corps and services, and preliminary training in depôts and with units, is taxed to the very utmost. In consequence, while enrolled men not as yet called up may feel they have been overlooked, such is not the case. All will be called in due course and will be given the opportunity to serve the State in the rôle in which they are best suited."

Sir Leonard Lyle, head of Tate and Lyle, the sugar refiners, yesterday became M.P. for Bournemouth, in succession to Sir Henry Page Croft, who has been elevated to the peerage. Sir Leonard, a Conservative, formerly M.P. for the Stratford Division of West Ham (1918-1922) and Epping (1923-1936) was unopposed.

CLOSE FINISHES AT THE CURRAGH

Breadmaker Wins Waterford Testimonial Stakes

CLOSE finishes marked the second day's racing at the Curragh, when favourites or well-backed horses scored with consistency until the last race, when Goose Feather brought some relief to layers by a narrowly-gained victory.

Racing was resumed with the Nursery Plate, for which there was a field of sixteen. As in the case of the first race on Wednesday, we were treated to a thrilling finish, of which Joe Canty was again the hero, his mount, British United, surviving in a desperate struggle with the favourite, Sportown, and Evening Dress. British United, who belongs to Miss Dorothy Paget, and is trained by C. Rogers, is by Link Boy out of Pippin, and ran in a manner to suggest that he may do better over a longer journey.

It was disappointing to find only two runners in readiness for the Amateur Riders' Race, but again there was a splendid finish, in which Mr. J. H. de Bromhead, on Gloucester, beat Mr. Hugh Delmege, on Starflyer, by a head. The pair were close together for the last furlong, and an objection was subsequently lodged, but this was overruled.

Sunny Star, who had finished second to Skibbereen Eagle in the Apprentices' Plate on the previous day, was saddled again for the Loughbrown Plate, and carrying top weight of 9st. put up a fine performance in finishing second to Belrose, to whom she was conceding 11lb. M. Wing was always going smoothly on Belrose, and, when he shook her up, the daughter of Wavelop answered gamely to his call, and won in comfortable style.

BIG T.-Y.-O. TEST

With a few exceptions, all the best two years old in the country were included in the field for the Waterford Testimonial Stakes, and the best supported were Parkside, Breadmaker and First Bloom. These were also most concerned in the finish, Breadmaker, thanks to some excellent riding on the part of T. Burns, beating Parkside by three parts of a length. The winner, who is owned by Mr. W. Barnett, is by Trigo, a full sister to whom, Avena, had won on the previous day.

All the six declared runners for the King's Plate came to the post, and Angerton was made a strong favourite. Neither he nor any of the others could stay out the two miles as well as Mr. P. McCavana's Ajar, who, tackling On Straight and Angerton two furlongs from home, came clear away to win in decisive fashion.

Racing concluded just as it began, with a desperately close finish for the sprint handicap, which M. Beary won on Lord Portman's Goose Feather by a short head from Terraceford, with Clotilde, a neck off, third. Details:—

A feature was the smart fielding of the Trinity players. Score:—

BOXING

TO-NIGHT'S PROGRAMME AT TOLKA PARK

The principal contest at the tournament promoted by the Drumcondra Football Club at Tolka Park to-night is the meeting between Sean Clancy (Dublin) and Jerry McCreedy (Belfast). Clancy has returned home after a successful tour in England, and he will meet a worthy opponent in McCreedy, who has defeated Tommy Armour twice, and also has gained decisions over Tommy Jones (Derby), Jock Davis (Glasgow), Mog Gwilliam (Wales), and Billy Jackson (Belfast).

In ten rounds middle-weight contest, Tommy Upton is matched against Pat Mulcahy, and the former, with his advantage in weight, should give the Cork man a tough fight. Three eight-round contests complete the bill, and the first bout is timed for 8 o'clock.

YACHTING

DUBLIN BAY SAILING CLUB

It was in a fine sailing breeze from South-East that the usual mid-week races of the D.B.S.C. were carried through last evening. LAWN TENNIS

MEN'S INTER-CLUB—CLASS I.

FURTHER PROGRESS BY LANSDOWNE

Two matches were played last evening in the men's inter-club competition. In Section A Lansdowne, the holders, beat Mount Temple by 3 matches to nil, but the losers did far better than such a margin indicates. F. H. Ballagh played some of his best tennis in taking the second set from R. F. Egan; W. Dawson fought an eighteen-game second set with A. E. Fannin, and the last three singles and two of the doubles went to three sets. Ballagh and Dawson put up a great fight against Fannin and Egan in the top double. If Lansdowne beat Norwood to-morrow they will win section A.

The match in Class I., Section B, between Dublin University and Kenilworth, staged in the College Park, is still undecided, each team having had four successes. The result depends on the last singles, which will be played next week.
